Russian Parents Eat Their Babies, Nansen Asserts

GENEVA, May 17.—Quoting from what he declared was authenticated information, Fridtjof Nansen told the league of nations council today that "starving Russian mothers had been eating their babies in the public markets in Russia's famine districts. He cited a case of a 14-year-old girl killing her brother and eating his flesh, and declared that mothers were eating their children."

The council referred to the Geneva meeting the urgent request of the Norwegian government for the appointment of an international commission to study the influence of the Russian famine upon the economic retrogression of Europe.

The Norwegian request is based upon economic rather than upon humanitarian grounds. It declares that normal economic life can never be restored until the famine is entirely wiped out, as the famine is the fundamental obstacle of resumption of Russian production.

In presenting the resolution Fridtjof Nansen declared the famine would certainly continue for another year. He read reports showing that the fall planting for last year was 20 per cent less than 1920, while the spring planting of this year was only 7 per cent. In some districts he declared the percentage was even less. The people of the Volga, Ukraine, and Crimean regions, he said, could receive no more than 20 per cent of their normal rations for this year and next.

To date, said Nansen, 45,000,000 persons are affected by the Russian food shortage and unable to contribute to Russia's normal production. This situation, he said, affects the economic life of all Europe.

If the Geneva conference does not act on the Norwegian request the league council will take it up later.

America Wants Hague Meeting Better Defined

Drummer Could Not Meet Test

The following story emanated from Roonoke is going the rounds of the state papers:

A local traveling man was stopping at Danville for a few days, and while in town called an old acquaintance on the phone who invited him to come out to his house for supper. The traveling man went.

It came time for supper. The family were seated at the table and his friend's wife said, "Will you please say grace, Mr. B." This was all unexpected and Mr. B. was not equal to the occasion. He hesitated and then blurted out a few seconds and then replied, "You will have to pass me this time. I am a Cafeteria and lunch counter 'hound' and am not prepared for this ordeal." At this the outraged hostess got up and left the room while the traveling man turned a crimson color. He's cured. He said that they would have to "soak and rock" him the next time anyone wanted him to come out for supper.

Small Hope of U. S. Entering Proposed Conference Until Its Purpose is More Fully Understood.

(By The Associated Press.)

GENEVA, May 18.—The non-aggression pact has been adopted unanimously at the plenary meeting of the political sub-commission of the conference. The pact was not signed but it was adopted in the form of a resolution, each State pledging to respect.

Sir Edward Grigg announced on behalf of the British delegation that further advice received from the United States government made it seem unlikely that America would participate in the Hague meeting at least until the scope of that meeting was better understood.

Negress Is Held For Shooting

Mary Poteat, a negress, is in jail charged with shooting Posey Davis, also colored, the affray taking place at Tippet's crossing yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. Davis was wounded painfully on the knee but not seriously.

Little could be learned of the details regarding the shooting. Officers were called to the scene, and Sergeant H. T. Haraway, and Patrolmen R. A. Adams and L. O. Beiton went to the scene. The negress who did not deny doing the shooting was arrested and placed in jail, having been turned over to officer O. W. Bates.

From what can be learned the negress and Davis had a quarrel last Monday which developed into a fight. The negress left and was not seen by the woman until yesterday when she procured a pistol and shot at Davis. She threw the weapon into a creek and told the officers that it was a 22 calibre gun and was no good. The police, however, stated that the pistol was a 32 calibre. The ball struck Davis squarely on the knee cap, shattering the bone and inflicting a bad wound.

More Arrests Made In Hughes Killing

W. D. Henderson, Formerly Covington Takes Stand At Chatham Jail — Cox Hearing Is Continued Until Tomorrow.

The preliminary hearing, which was to have been given today in Martinsville to Exell Cox, who is held for complicity in the killing of Constable Hughes Mitchell, was continued until tomorrow. This was done owing to the unavailability of the attorney for the commonwealth's attorney of Henry county, who has been called to Chatham in connection with the trial of W. D. Henderson.

Not the least development in connection with the brutal slaying of the constable is the arrest of W. D. Henderson at Koeher, who appears to be implicated in the affair and who is in jail at Martinsville. Henderson formerly lived in Danville, where he was in the construction company, which built the concrete mill.

A few days ago in response to a telephone message from authorities at Martinsville, Cox surrendered himself and was placed in jail pending the preliminary hearing, which by agreement was set for today. Cox who is reputed to be a wealthy man doing a large merchandise business near Fayetteville, offered to give any amount of bail, but the justice in the case of other men charged with complicity in the same crime, refused to grant bail until a preliminary hearing, at which could be ascertained the nature of the evidence against the accused.

No statement has been given out as to the details or exact nature of the evidence upon which the prosecution expects to "make out its case against Cox, Roland, Dix and Lewis Henderson."

Cox makes the fourth man now in jail charged with complicity in the murder of Mitchell by the negro "Rustler" Brown. The others are Lewis Henderson and Dix, all of whom are in jail at Martinsville. Henderson works at Koeher as a construction company.

Crop Conditions In Old Dominion

Temperature was somewhat above normal during the week. Showers fell frequently in the southwest where the work was consequently further delayed; only light rains fell in the north and east, though crops continued to make excellent progress during the week. Wheat is heading in most sections, corn planting is practically finished and early plantings are coming up in most counties throughout the state. Fair progress was made during the week in transplanting tobacco and sweet potato plants. Conditions were favorable for seeding the cotton raising section and this work is nearing completion; peanut planting is also being rushed.

Hear Evidence In Disturbance Case

After a postponement of several times, charges involving the families of Will Skinner and P. D. Hicks, the outgrowth of which was a fight some time ago between two children of the families, were taken up in the police court this morning, but only a part of the testimony was taken, owing to the absence of witnesses. The case was postponed until Tuesday. The persons involved in the trouble were recognized for their appearance again next Tuesday.

The warrants charging disturbance were the result of a fight between two young boys, which it seems caused other members of the families to become involved in the trouble. It is said all feeling has existed between the two families for some time. More of the details will be learned at completion of the hearing. The families reside on Floyd street.

Luther Harris was fined $10 and costs for having a bottle of whiskey in his pocket.

Tom Bailey and Mary Moore, both colored, were fined $20 each on a statutory charge.

Auto Accident Aired In Court

An accident in which three automobiles were involved which occurred several days ago was aired in the police court this morning. The accident in the case was reserved until a later date in order that two of the parties to the case might consider the matter of paying the damages done to A. M. Aiken's machine which was parked on Main street, in front of the Tuganora club.

From what could be learned the machine of M. Enright was parked on two cars behind the Aiken machine. A. D. Land was coming up Main street. Just as he became almost parallel with Enright's car, the driver turned out from the curb and struck Enright's machine on the right front wheel. Land claims that this snatched the steering wheel from his hand and caused his car to swing around and smash into the Aiken machine, damaging the latter car to the amount of about $65. Neither of the other two machines were damaged to any great extent.

Today's Baseball Game Is Called Off

Today's proposed game with Durham has been abandoned owing to rain. Owner Peyton Hatcher of the Tobaccocons said this morning. Even if it cleared up it was said that the grounds after the rough soaking they have had for the past forty-eight hours would prevent play. Similar conditions are said to exist around the circuit and no games are anticipated anywhere in the Piedmont.

Today's game with Durham was insured for $1,000 and today's game is partially so. Peyton Hatcher has proved a good guesser so far on the insurance proposition and he is said to be ahead of the game. He is insured by the home office on the basis of the chance in moon.

Call Primary For Fifth District

Meeting at Martinsville Results in Decision — No Candidate from Henry Likely—Candidates Must Declare by June 1st.

The Fifth District Democratic Committee held a meeting in Martinsville this morning and decided to call a primary for the holding of a primary this year. The committee was organized by the action taken today by the committee calling the primary in defiance to the wishes of the convention.

Reports from Henry county are that there is little chance of a candidate coming out from that section against Congress in Hooker, whose service in Washington has been eminently satisfactory. Reports that could offer are being made to him on a bid to come from Henry or from Halifax county have created some interest in the district. It is probable that he will be seen if the Marshal Hooker will throw his hat into the ring. Yesterday when he was questioned on the subject he said that he had not made up his mind.

New Manufactory May Come To City

The new enterprise committee of the chamber of commerce is engaged now in trying to secure for Danville a new manufactory. Negotiations have been in progress for some time and indications point towards success. The name of the firm has not been disclosed but it is said to be supported by Northern capital which wishes to start a factory for the making of fibrous maling. The plant will give employment to 100 men, it is said. Several suitable buildings have been picked out and representatives of the concern are expected here in a few days to look the field over.

Secretary H. R. Watkins reported today that several other smaller concerns who are in the field for similar location are being negotiated.

Lions' Club Will Organize Here Tomorrow Night

The Danville Lions' Club will affect an organization here tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at a buffet supper at Hotel Bpirtion. Charter members number 35.

State Organizer Tom Marriott telegraphed yesterday that he would be in Danville Friday night and would attend the meeting of organization.

The plan used in organizing the Lions' Club is unique. The idea is just the opposite of the scheme of most other organizations. The old idea was to form a club composed of men of profession, or who worked in the same trade, or belonged to the same church, or who were born in the same country, or for some other reason might be classed in the same group.

The Lions' Club instead of providing that all of its members must be bankers or grocers, or Methodists or Seven Day Adventists, or in any special class or group, specifies that not more than one member can be engaged in the same business. The result is that practically every known vocation is represented among the ranks of Lions.

It is a sort of melting pot where various elements can be brought together and there can be an exchange as well as a fusing of ideas.

Such a group of men has been gotten together in Danville and if every member remains true to the creed of the organization not only will the Lions themselves reap benefits, but much can be accomplished in the way of growth and development.

The principles of Lionism follow:

- 1.—Full and hearty co-operation with all other clubs in all movements in the community which seek to promote any betterment, civic, industrial or educational, and any plans looking towards the elimination of class distinction.
- 2.—Promotion of public health, hygiene and sanitation, especially among those who need instruction and guidance in the care and feeding of children.
- 3.—Being an organization thoroughly loyal to our government, it is our special interest to advance education in the language, customs, ideals and government of our country, especially among adults of foreign birth.
- 4.—Strict adherence to the highest code of ethics in all our business and social relations.
- 5.—The biggest asset of any nation being its people, one of its cardinal points of Lionism is the cultivation of a spirit of genuine brotherhood among men.

To Keep Tariff Before Senate Until Passed

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The tariff bill will be kept before the Senate until the passage of a measure long that may be, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, announced tonight in the Senate.

"We will keep this bill before the Senate no matter how long we are held here," Senator Lodge's announcement.

Senator Lodge's announcement was in response to an inquiry of Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader, as to the legislative program of the majority. Calling attention that since consideration of the tariff measure began some bills had been brought in with notices and unanimous consent for their consideration requested, the Democratic leader said the minority would ask that due notice be given when debatable measures were considered.

Senator Lodge said there was a "reasonable" request, and explained that it might be necessary to displace the tariff measure temporarily for important appropriation bills and conference reports.

Returning to its night session after a lay-off last night, the Senate had a long session in keeping a quorum. Business was stopped for an hour early in the evening while a quorum was sought and finally it became necessary to send the sergeant-at-arms out to bring in absentees.

Attaching provisions in the additional tariff proposing broad powers for the president over the tariff duties, Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, declared that they would "work a revolution in our system of government." He asserted that the White House bring together in the White House the three branches of the government—legislative, executive and judicial, which the founders of the republic had decreed should forever be separate.

Senator Watson declared that the president would be a mighty busy man if he undertook to exercise the control over tariff duties that was proposed.

"There will be no more trips to St. Augustine," he said, "no more week-ends on the Mayflower, no more day-trips to New Jersey to enjoy the hospitality of Senator Frelinghuysen and tea with Senator Dupont."

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, wanted to know if golf would be one of the things the president would have to give up.

"Yes, and back-bowling too," responded Senator Watson.

Sensors Underwood and Simmons, Democrats, North Carolina, contended, and Senators McCumber and Smoot, declared that the president would have the authority to transfer items from the tariff list to the dutiable list. Finally Senator Smoot offered an amendment, which was left pending for Senator Underwood's approval, designed to clarify the section and definitely limit the presidential discretion to the dutiable list.

Senator Smoot reiterated that the president would use the authority granted only in a limited number of cases in which it was known that duties could not be provided that would take care of the situation.

He added that in such cases the president would act to decrease rates which had necessarily to be fixed now on an unstable condition.

Senator McCumber finally brought the discussion to a close by calling attention that the Senate had been in session for six hours without taking a single vote and asking that it proceed to vote. This was done almost immediately, the committee report of 20 per cent ad valorem on home black being approved. The committee originally had proposed a rate of one cent a pound, but withdrew this.

An amendment by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, to make the rate 10 per cent was rejected 23 to 64.

Supporting his amendment, Senator Walsh said that since imports of home black were negligible there was no need of a protective tariff. He said that this item was "illustrative of the whole tariff schedule."

He said that the tariff schedule is being made to maintain the balance of trade and during the war when there was no competition.

PINCHOT WINS IN PA. PRIMARY

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Gifford Pinchot, former State forester, had increased his lead over Attorney General George E. Alter in the fight for the Republican nomination for governor tonight in the primary.

DR. GALPIN'S ADDRESS ON RURAL LIFE POSSIBILITIES

At the Coates Junior High school Tuesday night Dr. Galpin, of the United States Department of Agriculture gave a very inspiring address on the possibilities of rural life. A good number of patrons, young people and teachers were attentive listeners.

The possibilities of homes, schools and health facilities were discussed in a free and informal manner. Every child of the community should be able to come into the world of intellectual fellowship with the great minds of all ages and of all times. A time is coming, said the gifted speaker, when good hospitals will be within the reach of the farming population.

The address was presided over by Mr. Burton Redd, president of the Community League of this rapidly developing school. It was held under the direction of the general state council of rural agencies, of which Mrs. F. C. Beverly is the county director. Mrs. Beverly was herself present and introduced the speaker at the evening.

The county agent, Mr. W. M. Perry, spoke briefly but pointedly following the thought of Dr. Galpin.

The young people of the community finish the program of instrumental music.

The actual work of following up the various suggestions for rural life betterment which are presented in these rural conferences will be done through the community leagues. Mr. Redd stated that an effort will be made to keep the league at Coates active during the vacation months.

METHODISTS ARE KEEPING BUSY IN THEIR ELECTIONS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 17.—(Associated Press)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in session here today completed its Episcopal elections by naming Dr. Hiram A. Boaz, of Dallas, Texas, as the fifth bishop to be chosen at this session, revised the machinery of its board of missions and began the election of general board secretaries over which the conference has direct supervision.

The secretarial elections were still in progress when the body adjourned late today and will be resumed in the morning.

The principal contest centered about the choice for secretary of the board of church extension and two ballots were taken before Dr. T. D. Ellis, of Macon, Ga., was elected to succeed Dr. S. H. C. Bergin, of Louisville, who was not a candidate for re-election. Dr. Ellis lacked two votes of a majority on the first ballot. The other votes were scattered among a large number of candidates on both ballots.

Dr. John Shackford of Nashville, Tenn., was elected general secretary of the Sunday school board and Dr. E. B. Chappell of Nashville, editor of literature of the Sunday school board.

Formerly, Dr. Chappell has performed the duties of both offices but this conference separated the work.

Begun of Dr. Boaz as bishop came on the third ballot today and on the eighth of the conference. He received 213 votes. Dr. Boaz, with the four other bishops, Dr. J. E. Dickey, of Griffin, Ga., Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Nashville, Dr. H. M. Dobbs, Ansonia, Ala., and Sam R. Hay, Houston, Texas will be consecrated Sunday.

The conference later today set May 6, 1926, as the date of the next general conference. The place will be chosen by a committee later.

DR. GALPIN'S ADDRESS ON RURAL LIFE POSSIBILITIES

At the Coates Junior High school Tuesday night Dr. Galpin, of the United States Department of Agriculture gave a very inspiring address on the possibilities of rural life. A good number of patrons, young people and teachers were attentive listeners.

The possibilities of homes, schools and health facilities were discussed in a free and informal manner. Every child of the community should be able to come into the world of intellectual fellowship with the great minds of all ages and of all times. A time is coming, said the gifted speaker, when good hospitals will be within the reach of the farming population.

The address was presided over by Mr. Burton Redd, president of the Community League of this rapidly developing school. It was held under the direction of the general state council of rural agencies, of which Mrs. F. C. Beverly is the county director. Mrs. Beverly was herself present and introduced the speaker at the evening.

The county agent, Mr. W. M. Perry, spoke briefly but pointedly following the thought of Dr. Galpin.

The young people of the community finish the program of instrumental music.

The actual work of following up the various suggestions for rural life betterment which are presented in these rural conferences will be done through the community leagues. Mr. Redd stated that an effort will be made to keep the league at Coates active during the vacation months.

The Hague Chosen Definitely As the Next Meet Place

GENOA, May 17.—(By The Associated Press)—The Hague has been definitely selected as the meeting place for the experts who will formulate the Russian problem, it was announced tonight. Arrangements for The Hague conference in June were practically completed with today's acceptance by the Russians of the proposals submitted to them, which have been amended so as to provide that a truce between the various powers will continue for a maximum of eight months.

A meeting of the full political commission of the conference will be held tomorrow morning, and the final plenary session probably on Friday. Premier Lloyd George hopes to start for England Friday afternoon.

The process verbal relating to the Lloyd George plan for dual commissaires to meet at The Hague, which was presented to the Russians on Monday last was adopted with an annex. With the amendments carried today by the sub-committee it will be sent to the Washington government, probably with a letter of the secretary of the Genoa conference which is likely to be considered tomorrow at a meeting of the full political commission.

A second important amendment to the document provides that the truce will continue to operate for a period of four months after adjournment of the Hague meeting. This extension is considered a victory for Mr. Lloyd George because it provides more time for the consummation of the permanent non-aggression pact into which he hopes the truce will be merged.

After a conference with Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Barthou and M. Jaspard announced that the French and Belgian delegations approved today's proceedings, but must reserve the whole matter to their home governments for ratification. When asked tonight whether France intended to participate in the Hague meeting, the French answered that it was too early to say.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs Would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing."—Mrs. J. M. SIBBERT, 4032 High St., Everett, Washington.

To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and "no good" feelings disappear.

It has done this for many, many women; why not give it a fair trial—now.

MORE ARE MADE HOMELESS BY LEVEE BREAKS

NEW ORLEANS, May 17.—Probably 5,000 homeless refugees will be added to the 60,000 already made homeless or otherwise seriously affected by the floods as a result of the breaks in the levee on Bayou des Glaises, near Hamburg, La., according to estimates made today by Red Cross workers. Today's break increases the total area flooded to more than 5,500 square miles in Louisiana and Mississippi.

A total of 42,000 people are now being fed and clothed by flood relief agencies in the two States according to these officials, 23,000 in Louisiana and 19,000 in Mississippi. It is expected that at least 2,000 persons who will be affected by the Hamburg crevasse will be added to this roll.

The loss of livestock in the area being flooded by the Hamburg break will be very great as residents of that section did not anticipate a flood and but little time was given for the removal of livestock. Thousands of acres of sugar cane in Avoyelles, St. Martin, St. Landry and Iberia parishes have either been flooded or will be within the next two days by the water from Bayou des Glaises and the Red river through the break in the levee near Hamburg, now about 900 feet wide.

Reports from the affected area today stated the water had reached and inundated the towns of Moreauville and Plaquemine and is gradually rising around the town of Melville which is expected to go under water early tomorrow. At the present rate it is estimated Palmetto will be inundated by Friday.

The flood at Melville was reported rising at the rate of 6 inches an hour.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS WILL MAINTAIN IMPROVED ROADS

(Special to The Bee.)
CHATHAM, Va., May 18.—The Board of County Supervisors, which met here on Monday to take up the question of road maintenance, is understood to have reached a satisfactory arrangement with the State Highway Commission for State aid. A. H. Pettigrew, of the commission and C. L. Scott, one of the engineers, were present at the meeting and the matter was gone into at some length. It is expected that a good sum will be spent in maintaining the roads which have been put down in Pittsylvania county and that the State will contribute an amount equal to that appropriated by the county.

Here is a home treatment for removing hairs that is quick, painless and inexpensive. With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to thickly cover the objectionable hairs, apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off wash the skin and it will be left soft, clear and hairless. This treatment will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—adv.

Acute Indigestion For Over 2 Years

"For over two years I suffered from acute indigestion," says Arthur L. Reeves, secretary of the Austinbury Fuel & Light Company, Ohio. "Frequently calling in a physician, getting only temporary relief. Acting on the advice of a friend I took Dr. Orin's Stomach Remedy regularly until the first package was used up. I then procured another package of which I have taken only an occasional dose for a real or fancied condition of acid stomach or heartburn. For seven months now I have been entirely free from any attack of acute indigestion and can eat anything I want with no fear of bad results. In case of sour stomach which is sometimes quite annoying one dose will be found worth the price of the package. If the above statement of facts will help to call the attention of other sufferers to the merits of Dr. Orin's Stomach Remedy, I shall be glad to have you use it." Signed Arthur L. Reeves.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's called Anacid (for kidneys and backache) has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Mother's Prayer For Edwards Boys

Parent Says She Needs Wesley and Sidna in Her Old Age—Lives at Hopewell—Wishes She Had Testified.

HOPEWELL, Va., May 17.—"I sure do feel grateful for what people are doing to help me by signing the boys' petition," said Mrs. Albert Edwards, mother of Wesley and Sidna Edwards, and sister of Sidna Allen, at her home here today. "and I am praying that the Lord will show the people what's right to do and will repay them."

Mrs. Edwards is now residing on Ninth Avenue, Hopewell, with her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Tolbert, who is an employee of the Tubize Silk Company. She states that she has been living in this city since September 2, and that before that time she had been living in Petersburg in order to be near her son, Claude, who is in military service and was stationed at Camp Lee.

Woodrum Caught In Legal Tangle

Signing of Court Records at Roanoke After He Had Resigned Bench Is Now Questioned.

ROANOKE, May 17.—In an effort to ascertain the status of his standing before the Corporation Court, C. M. Truax, convicted of a felony through his counsel, has petitioned Judge John M. Hart to erase from the records the signature of former Judge C. A. Woodrum to the orders of the March term of court, alleging that the signatures were made after Judge Woodrum resigned from the bench and that the orders were unlawful. The question raised by the petitioner are pregnant with far-reaching possibilities. It is believed that perhaps affecting several hundred court orders entered between December, 1921 and April 3, 1922, as the result of the filing of this petition it was disclosed that more than eight hundred court orders, covering everything from grand jury findings to defendants serving from one to twenty-five years in the state penitentiary were unsigned from Judge Woodrum.

BROKERS WITH $20,000 INCOME SPEND $2,500,000 IN YEAR

NEW YORK, May 17.—Investors who entrusted millions of dollars to the defunct firm of E. O. Dier & Co., stock brokers, had an opportunity today to see where some of their money went when Edward J. Rice, accountant for the trustee in bankruptcy, opened the company's books at a hearing before the Referee Semon Miller.

The net testimony of Mr. Rice was that between January, 1921 and January, 1922, when the firm failed for nearly $4,000,000, it spent more than $2,500,000, with an income of $20,000.

$35,000 for lunches

Thirty-five thousand dollars was spent for lunches during the year, exclusive of lunches charged to the petty cash account, the books revealed.

Stamps cost $35,000; advertising, $71,000; leased telephone wires between branch offices, $4,000; stationery, $18,000; traveling expenses and entertainments, $11,000, and salaries, $18,000.

Stork Is Generous Down Kinston Way

KINSTON, N. C., May 17.—Blessings come singly but in bunches. The view of Thomas Moore, a farmer who lives near here, Moore is happy because the stork visited his premises in four places a few nights ago.

The stork's first stop was in Moore's home. There the bird left a baby boy. Then he stopped in the cowshed and left a calf. He flew over to the doghouse and left a litter of pups. He paid a visit to the chicken shed, because Moore says one of his hens was strutting about the yard the next morning with 10 little chickens strutting behind her.

"I'm too happy to say Moore. 'Any man would be happy if he got but in four places by the stork the same night. All my family, including the calf, pupies and chicks, are happy, too.'"

Secretary Of War Weeks To Deliver Speech At V. M. I.

(Special to The Bee.)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Secretary of War Weeks will go to Virginia Military Institute to deliver an address during the summer term. He accepted the invitation extended today by the board of trustees.

transferred to a military camp in Maryland and Mrs. Edwards has been forced to rely upon her daughter for support, who also is the sole support of her three small children.

During the course of the talk, Mrs. Edwards recounted the incidents of that memorable day in Hillsville (courtroom) but did not seem bitter over the outcome of the affair.

"I wish, though," she stated, "that I had taken the stand at the first trial. I would have told the truth and they would have been different. But now, even if the boys were guilty, we have all suffered enough. I am old and I need their help as never before—and I feel old."

"But even if the boys do get out of that place, we'll never go back to Hillsville to live. We'll be trying to forget and we're going away."

Younger Son Loses Eye

Mrs. Edwards, however, did not express regret over the boys' release, but would only give as her reason that she is "afraid."

The hopes of Mrs. Edwards seemed centered in her younger son, Luther Edwards, 18 years old. This son is now in Florida for his health, although he is working. The recent "flu" epidemic not only left him in such a weakened condition that he is forced to live in the warm climate, but also caused the loss of an eye. His ambition, according to his mother, is to be a writer in order that he might tell the story of the boys as soon as it is possible. It is the purpose of Mrs. Edwards to go to Florida to live with this boy and help him in his work, if the other boys do not secure their freedom.

1922, and that these orders were not signed by Judge Woodrum until May 2, this month, nearly a month after his resignation had taken effect.

Failure to sign the orders in the three books named in the code was discovered about three weeks ago when Judge W. J. Henson made a visit to the clerk's office to obtain data about orders in the Truax case, it is understood. Further scanning of the books showed that no orders were signed by Judge Woodrum between December and April.

Judge Henson spoke to Judge John M. Hart about the discovery of the unsigned orders and requested him not to permit the signing of the book in which were the Truax orders, it is said.

In the meantime Commonwealth's Attorney Samuel R. Truax was informed of the situation, and he went to Judge Hart with the suggestion that the orders be signed.

Mr. Price feared the possibility of it getting noted about that the orders were unsigned and that the orders would be turned out of jail taking advantage of the law, it is reported. Judge Hart, upon hearing Mr. Price, offered no objection to the order books receiving former Judge Woodrum's signature.

Another account listed as "errors and omissions" showed that $210, 237 had been lost through such changes.

Mr. Rice's testimony was that the gross income from commissions and interest in the year covered by the books was $492,524. Of this sum, $470,000 was paid out in commissions to other houses through whom stocks and bonds were purchased for Dier's clients.

M. L. and General Nichols, superintendent of the institution. The commitment exercises extend from June 18 to 21, inclusive.

—Mrs. E. L. Walton has returned to the city after a several day visit with her mother, Mrs. Walton at Lexington, Va. Mrs. Walton is attending the Washington and Lee University here.

Spottsville, Ind.—Mrs. Annie Johnson, of this place, said: "I suffered for a long time with constipation, which would get me down. I took cathartics and any number of purgatives. They would leave me in a worse condition than I was before. I had a long struggle with constipation, until I had a letter from a friend, telling me of the Black Draught, and I bought a box. REPUBLICANS ARE ASKED TO STAY ON JOB IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Corresponding about Republican Senators absenting themselves during votes on the tariff bill, Chairman McCumber of the Senate finance committee said tonight during debate that they should either keep on the job or resign.

"If you can't stay here and pass this bill for God's sake resign and let your State send some one here who will stay here," shouted the North Dakota senator. "That's my message to those Republicans who can stay here and won't."

He said it was not to be expected that senators who were sick could be present, that there were others who on account of their sick could be present, that there were others who on account of their age could not attend night sessions continuously and that those senators who had close personal contests in their own States might be excused but that other senators should stay on the job. He added that the Senate had been in session eleven hours and had passed on only "three little insignificant amendments."

A report submitted by the sergeant-at-arms on the results of a hurried round-up of a quorum led to a warm debate during the night session.

Senator Underwood said he had been informed that the report which was read into the record, showed that Democrats who were in town and absent were well while Republicans in the same category were all sick with three exceptions.

Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, said the reading of the report, to the Senate was a most extraordinary proceeding in view of the fact that none of the absent senators on the Democratic side, most of whom he said were in the Senate restaurant, had been notified that their attendance was necessary.

NOT GUILTY PLEA BY BUCKINGHAM

CANTON, Miss., May 17.—Miles J. Buckingham, wealthy Memphis business man, today pleaded not guilty in circuit court here to a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Harris Buckingham, who was shot and mortally wounded while in an automobile tour through Mississippi, with her husband last week, sought and obtained postponement of trial until next January and tonight was in the custody of the sheriff pending the outcome of habeas corpus proceedings.

F. P. Smith, Madison county sheriff, announced he would hold Buckingham in the county jail until the hearing next Thursday on the writ of habeas corpus asked for by counsel for the accused man in an effort to obtain his release on bail which according to Mississippi procedure is discretionary with the trial judge. Continuance until the January term of court was granted by Judge Wiley H. Potter before whom Buckingham was arraigned, over the protest of attorneys for the State who sought a trial at the present court term. Counsel for Buckingham pleaded for postponement to afford time to prepare their defense and assure the presence of witnesses now in other States.

Immediately after the trial date was set application for a writ of habeas corpus was examined and made returnable before Judge Potter May 26.

While booking passage for Europe, Mrs. Bortha Vardeman, concert singer, and her husband, John (below) were seized in connection with a $500,000 bond theft from the Chase National Bank, New York. Arthur (F. Chase above), former employee of the bank, also is held.

NO INTENTION OF STEALING GEMS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Although he declared he had no intention of stealing $70,000 worth of jewels from a jewelry store in the city of Chicago today, a man, put to a charge of murder and robbery, preferred by Mrs. Mitchell Harrison, of Knoxville, Tennessee, Ruth Hayden, his fiancée, also of Chicago, was discharged on the same charge, but David Bushnell and John Gavin who were arrested with the others were held for trial under $25,000 bail although Bede sought to dissolve them all.

Bede said the jewels, which were missed just as the train pulled into the Pennsylvania station, were put by mistake into a taxicab in which he was riding. He said he opened the bag and showed them to the others of the party. He declared he even looked in a newspaper for an advertisement of their loss but found none and finally pawned one of the diamond rings in Philadelphia, leaving his card there.

This is the first agreement obtained since the sailors' withdrawal from the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Wax Employees, and elected Riley as their president.

AMENDMENT TO ABOLISH CHILD LABOR IS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today instructed President Gompers to call a conference here of organizations interested in child welfare for the purpose of formulating a campaign looking to the adoption of a constitutional amendment which would abolish child labor.

The decision of the council was taken according to a statement issued tonight after thorough consideration of the United States supreme court decision on the child labor law. The court last Monday held that the statute was invalid.

The council also decided to set aside one day, June 14, in the coming convention of the federation for consideration of the child labor question.

NEW RECOGNITION GIVEN SWANSON BY AGRARIAN BLOC.

The appointment of Senator Claude A. Swanson as a member of the new agricultural committee, which is to make an exhaustive survey of pending legislation designed to relieve farmers and render remote a recurrence of distressful financial conditions on the farm which have occurred for the last several years, is a distinct compliment to the Virginia and a recognition of his authority on farming subjects. The committee will be composed of six Senators, all of them chosen on the basis of their ability to meet this particular problem and who have shown through their past activity that they were earnest in their endeavors to promote the interests of the great farming population in this country. The man who made the appointments is Senator Capper, head of the now famous Agrarian bloc which has formed a union to fight for the farmers as against the so-called "pro-farmer interests." The committee will hear spokesmen on measures of relief for the farmers and will make a study of pending legislation to see if it conforms to the views of the agricultural bloc. It will be a wedding out of the great number of bills presented affecting the farmers with probable recommendations for the dropping of certain measures which have no fundamental value. This is a call for real service on the part of Senator Swanson and one which he is capable of performing. His practical knowledge of farming which he has carried up through promotion to high places from his boyhood days when he was himself a farmer, render him eminently fit for this work. This knowledge combined with sincere faith, which comes only after years of service in the Senate, will place him in a position of being able to get things done, indeed, the entire personnel of this committee has been picked with this end in view and its members are Senators of ripe experience.

If practical service is to be given to the farmers who are going through a period of transition, one in which they are asserting themselves and striving to commanding positions, it will have to be rendered, not by men who are merely practical and who know of the needs of the rural element. It must necessarily come from members of the Senate who have learned to achieve results and to steer legislation through treacherous waters to a successful conclusion. For that reason it is obvious that Senator Swanson has now been given an opportunity to perform a service that no novice in the United States Senate could perform and the rural element should find in this food for reflection in the coming primary. A change in Virginia's representation at this time and the substitution of Senator Swanson whose ability as a legislator was well recognized by Woodrow Wilson will thwart the very thing that the rural element strives to obtain. The work which faces the committee will be both absorbing and exacting and it will necessitate the virtual abandonment of a well-considered campaign by Senator Swanson, whose time will be fully occupied in Washington. No greater evidence of devotion to rural legislation sought for the farmers can be given than this application to a problem at a great present sacrifice and the risk of being misunderstood.

DRAKES BRANCH, May 18.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Many people have noticed the new clock which hangs in the window of the First National Bank. It is indeed a novelty. For apparently it hasn't any works, one can see clear through it and yet it runs and keeps accurate time. To satisfy our curiosity, we interviewed Mr. H. V. Booth, the cashier, whose explanation follows:

"The revolution of the earth on its axis every 24 hours possesses both a rotary and centrifugal force. The rotary force is neutralized, so we do not notice it, by the tremendous size of the earth's sphere, and the centrifugal force is neutralized by the magnetic attraction which causes articles to fall instead of fly out into space when dropped."

"By supplanting this neutralization of the rotary motion of the earth in its daily revolution by a counter-balancing influence secured by means of a discing spheroid to which a magnetic cup is attached, and by astronomically calculating the proper reduction in size so that the circumference of the clock's dial bears the same relationship to its own circumference of the earth and also utilizing the attraction of the moon to the earth, which is found to be felt upon the hour hand of the clock when the neutralization is removed by the above mentioned scientific discovery, then the hands are allowed to rotate in accordance with the revolution of the earth, the same as the earth rotates on its axis, except that the calculation is such that the hands of the clock make two revolutions to the earth's one."

If this is not clear, the reader is privileged to work out the problem himself. Our idea is that the clock symbolized money at interest; it goes on and on and yet we cannot visualize the process, we only see the result.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Youth, beauty, social position and love—these were not sufficient to hold the affection of her husband, BILL LAMMY DRUCE, a man of wealth and an appetite for cheap distractions and expensive liquor. The decision to leave him came when she felt.

LUCINDA, after tolerating numerous escapades and receiving his promise to reform, discovered him in a woman of ill-repute in a Broadway cabaret.

On the eve of her departure, Lucinda renews a friendship with FANNY LONTAINE, and learns that her husband.

HARRY LONTAINE, is thinking of forming a motion picture company in California. With this she visits the New York studios of Alma Daley, motion picture queen, and takes keen interest in screen life. Then comes her break with Bellamy and her sudden departure for Chicago.

Her fellow-traveler tries to stop her as she leaves her hotel to board a train for Reno.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Somebody came between them. Startled, she identified the strange young man of the foyer.

"Can I be of service?" he suggested in an amused drawl.

Instinctively she gasped "No, please—!" At the same time Bellamy tried to shoulder the other roughly out of his way; the gratuitous champion stood firm, merely counseling, "Easy, old thing, easy."

Then Bellamy heard him saying, "Easy, old thing, easy." Then he heard him saying, "Easy, old thing, easy." Then he heard him saying, "Easy, old thing, easy."

When she recovered, the vehicle was turning a corner. Through its window she caught a glimpse of the sidewalk beneath the canopy of the Blackstone, just a bare glimpse of two figures struggling, with several others running toward them. Then the corner blocked out the scene.

XIV

AS she was pouring herself a second cup of coffee in the Pullman dining car the following morning the vacant chair at her table was drawn out and an amiable, amused voice asked: "Do you mind my sitting here, Mrs. Druce?"

Lucinda jumped in consternation. The speaker bowed with an ingratiating smile; her unsought champion stood by her side.

"I'm surprised, too," he confessed—"pleasantly, if you don't mind my saying so. And yet the dear public continually kicks about coincidences."

Lucinda found her tongue but found it incompetent to frame any but the most formal phrases. "I have a great deal to thank you for—"

"Please don't think of it that way. To the contrary, I owe you all sorts of apologies—"

"For butting in where any rational angel would have been scared to death to tread, and particularly for being here." The waiter thrust an order blank with the bill of fare under the young man's nose. "If you'll excuse me—"

The head he bowed over the cards was well-modeled and thatched with a good quantity of hair, light brown in color and amazingly lustrous. A skin whose patina of faint tan resembled that of old ivory, with never a blemish, covered boldly fashioned features. The mobile face had a trick of lighting up when its owner was talking as if aglow with the light of his thought, so that his look was in fact more eloquent than his speech. Lucinda thought she had never seen hands more strong and graceful, or any better cared for, not even Bell's. Nor had Bell ever dressed in better taste.

The object of her interest waved the waiter away and met her openly interested regard without loss of countenance.

"I guess it's time I introduced myself, Mrs. Druce. My name is Summerlad. After a slight pause and with a hint of self-consciousness, he amplified: "Lynn Summerlad."

Sensible that he seemed to expect her to think well of that precious name, Lucinda found no echo for it in the chambers of her memory.

"But how is it you know my name, Mr. Summerlad?"

"That's easy; your husband told me."

Again Lucinda was reduced to a blank "Oh!" This time she felt that she was coloring.

"In the police station!" Mr. Summerlad added with a broad grin. "But don't be alarmed. You see, Mr. Druce rather lost his head—wouldn't be happy till he'd had me arrested on a charge of assault. At the station house your husband cooled down and remembered that publicity wasn't his best bet. So he withdrew the charge."

"How dreadful!" Lucinda murmured, her thoughts with Bellamy. "I'm so sorry."

"No reason to be. If you must know, I enjoyed the adventure tremendously. That's what one gets for having been born with a perverted sense of humor. Besides, it wasn't as if I'd never been pinched before."

"You don't mean to tell me you're in the habit of—"

"I mean, pinched for speeding. You know what the roads are, out on the coast, hard and smooth and straight as a string for miles at a time. You can hardly resist them, once you get beyond the city limits."

Lucinda caught the eye of her waiter and gave him a bill to pay for her breakfast. But she couldn't escape with good grace just yet, unless she wished to administer a downright snub she would have to wait for her change.

"I'd like to show you what motor-ing is around Los Angeles," Mr. Summerlad pursued, with breath-taking assurance. "It isn't an important question, may I ask if that's where you're bound?"

"No," Lucinda replied briefly. One began to foresee that to put a damper on such abounding enterprise would prove far from easy.

Lucinda gathered up her change.

DELEGATE ARRESTED

She Had to Obey Skipper

As Peggy Hull, war correspondent, was hurrying to the Chinese war, Skipper J. T. Kinley invited her into the ship's cabin, pointed to a minister and announced he was going to marry her. Peggy gasped. "All right," she said. And the service began.

And Summerlad's face fell touchingly as he grasped the fact that she was really going to leave him to finish his breakfast alone. "I am deeply indebted to you," she murmured. "But, of course, it isn't a thing one can talk about."

"Well, there are lots of other things we can talk about," Summerlad rejoined cheerily. "So let's forget the unpleasant ones. It's a long, lonesome trip, and I'll be very happy if you'll let me prattle in your company now and then."

Lucinda contented herself with replying, no, she wouldn't mind, and thrust back her chair. Immediately Summerlad was on his feet, napkin in hand, bowing prettily.

"Awfully good of you, Mrs. Druce. Where shall I find you, say in an hour or two? The observation car?"

"Perhaps," Lucinda smiled.

"She made her way back to her room, but was not well settled when she heard a joyful cry—"

"Cindy! Cindy Druce!"—and rose, dropping the book in her astonishment, to be enfolded in the arms of Fanny Lontaine.

And then it was amusing to see Los Angeles under the wing of so well-informed a motion-picture impresario as Lontaine. That afternoon at the Culp studios had been how much more so would it be to live for a time in a city that was, at least as Lontaine labeled it, one vast open-air studio, to be associated with people who were actually doing something with their lives!

"But you haven't told me," she complained, "about those tests. How did I look?"

"You were adorable, everybody simply raved about you. You outclassed even Alma Daley in the Palm Room scene. No, but seriously, it was you first, Miss Daley second, Fanny a good third, the field nowhere."

"Well, it's hard to believe, but if you mean it, the Culp and their cameramen would seem to have been right."

"Right about what?" Lontaine earnestly wanted to know.

"Why, they were so sure I would screen well, as they put it, Mr. Culp made me an offer, as we were leaving to act with his wife in her next picture."

Lontaine's eyes widened into a luminous blue stare; and abruptly, as if to hide the thought behind them, he threw away a half-smoked cigaret and, helping himself to another, bent forward, tapping it on a thumb-nail.

"Really, dearest? How priceless! And what did you say to the creature?"

"Oh, I was kind but firm."

"Ben Culp's a big man in the cinema game," Lontaine commented without looking up. "If he says you'd make a hit, you might do worse than listen to him. That is, of course, if you should ever think of taking a flyer in the motion picture business."

"I'm not even dreaming of such a thing. Why, it's absurd!"

"Then you're the modern miracle, Mrs. Druce—a woman without either vanity or a secret ambition to be a cinema star," Lontaine laughed and laced her fingers.

The door was behind Lucinda's shoulder. Closing it, unseen by her, Lontaine contrived to exchange with his wife a look of profound significance.

IF YOU MUST WEAN BABY DO IT CAREFULLY

SIX MONTHS OLD AND PERFECTLY HAPPY

BY MRS. MAX WEST,
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

Shall I wean the baby in hot weather? This question is asked by many mothers whose babies are approaching the age of one year. The best answer probably is "do not wean the baby suddenly, in the very midst of the hot spell."

But, on the other hand, it is most unwise to keep the baby at the breast after the milk has become scanty and poor in quality. The best plan is to begin the weaning process by the sixth month, or thereabouts, giving a little properly modified fresh milk, once a day.

From this age on, each month may see the gradual introduction of certain food and the cautious substitution of bottle for breast feedings, until by the tenth month, or a little earlier or later, as the case may be, the baby is well accustomed to the new food and can be fed thus through the hottest weather in safety.

If the baby is still in the first half of the first year, every effort should be made to keep up the supply of breast milk, even if a little supplementary bottle food must occasionally be given.

In such cases, it is best to "strip" both breasts at each nursing, giving the supplementary milk only after the baby has taken all the breast milk he can get.

If, however, the baby must be fed on the bottle, it will be well to make the feedings weaker than usual, as the weather is very hot. It is far better to under-feed the baby for a little while, than to run the risk of an attack of diarrhea.

The easiest way to weaken the food is to pour off an ounce or more from each bottle and make up the quantity of fluid by adding an equal quantity of water. Or the milk and sugar may be decreased and the water increased when the feedings are made up.

If the baby does not care to eat, do not force food upon him. A flagging appetite is very common in summer, and the baby will make up for his lack, as soon as the cooler days come. Give him a great deal of cool (not cold) drinking water. It is well to boil all the water used for the baby. It can be cooled in glass jars, either on ice or by standing the jars in running water.

Little babies should be given drinking water in a nursing bottle, even feeding and at night. Older ones should be offered water very frequently.

Mrs. Belmont Says Woman's Party Can Elect Future Presidents

MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT,
PRESIDENT OF THE WOMAN'S PARTY

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the Woman's Party, has given to NEA Service the first authorized statement since her return from Europe for the dedication of party headquarters in Washington.

Following her significant declaration that a woman may some time be elected president, the direct question was put to Mrs. Belmont whether she would accept such an honor.

"It will be time to discuss that matter," she said, "when the election comes."

Mrs. Belmont, who has been a leader in the Woman's Party movement since its inception, is the daughter of the former Duchess of Marlborough. She is a leader of society and noted for her philanthropy.

BY MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT,
President of the Woman's Party.
(An Interview With NEA Service, Copyrighted, 1932, by NEA Service.)
BIRMINGHAM, Tenn., May 18.—Women on the national headquarters of the world. We have been kept out of political housekeeping, and we need a party of our own to accomplish the political work awaiting us.

The building we are dedicating (May 21) in Washington is out meeting place. It is the first and only political women's parliament in the world. We are to deal simply with political matters.

To be able to influence existing conditions we cannot afford to wait until we get sufficiently strong within an existing party. To carry weight we must act alone.

We have no idea of antagonizing the men—no idea of sex antagonism. We simply wish to change certain conditions to accomplish certain things and to bring the women's point of view into the political world.

To do this we had to have the Woman's Party. Now we have headquarters in the national capital. Soon we shall have headquarters in every state capital and in every town and village.

There is no sense in our getting the vote and doing nothing with it. It is a mistake idea that we mean to fight the men. We are not thinking of the men. We are thinking of the community. If a man running for office deserves our vote he will get it. We can throw our strength to a party or to a candidate and decide elections.

There will be more and more women candidates, backed by the women's own party. But we are not anxious for political position. We will fight for office when we see that the right woman is needed in the right place.

I see nothing to prevent women from occupying the high offices in the land. There are several women who would make excellent presidents. These things have been said before among women in politics. She has the brains, the earnestness and the equipment for such an office as the presidency.

There is a tremendous work for the Woman's Party to do. Men haven't done the work and they don't intend to do it. We must. Men is the destructive force, woman the conserving force.

Everybody must realize the neglected condition that exist, and that the men in power have shown little interest in curing them. One of the greatest evils is that the laws of many states do not recognize women as equals of men. We are carrying this fight into every state.

RUTH MUST ASK RE-INSTATEMENT

CHICAGO, May 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The suspension of Ruth from the New York Yankees, which will not be automatically reinstated on May 20, when his term of suspension from the New York Yankees expires, but may apply for reinstatement to the Yankees, Commissioner, at that time, Leslie O'Connor, Mr. Landis' secretary said today.

Ruth who was suspended until May 20 with Bob Meusel, New York, outfielder, and Bill Peavey, pitcher, after the three had gone on a barn storming tour after the close of the season last fall, will not be compelled to appear in person before Commissioner Landis to make his request, Mr. O'Connor said.

The suspension order, Mr. O'Connor said, prohibited Ruth and the two others from participating in league games until May 20 when they were given the privilege of asking reinstatement. Such a request, Mr. O'Connor said, might be made by letter, telephone or in person and would be taken under consideration by the commissioner.

A request for reinstatement by telegraph, if answered in the affirmative by Commissioner Landis in the same manner at once, would, it is thought, give Ruth an opportunity to play Saturday with the New York club when it faces St. Louis, with Kenneth Williams, who has an eleven home run lead overrun in the line-up.

Tobaccoists To Play Durhamites This Afternoon

Weather permitting, the Fast Flying Virginians now leading the Piedmont league cricket play team, and Manager Gooch's Durhamites, will play their initial game of the season at Stonehill Jackson park this afternoon at 4:15. Note the changed hour.

Yesterday's scheduled game was prevented by rain, and at midnight of Wednesday it seems probable that "the long season in May" will rain out the game scheduled for this afternoon. In the event of favorable weather, only one game will be played, it being too early to begin playing off postponed games.

This will be Durham's initial bow of the season to a Danville team, if indeed they have a chance to appear. Manush, their old manager, is among the missing but they are some familiar faces and forms among the Eulis Dayton, catches and outfielders. Jim Conley, center fielder, is short, Canada at first, Shay in left field, "Smoky Joe" Caviness, Charlie Strain who has appeared here with a Richmond team will all be welcomed by those who have seen them play.

Danville will appear somewhat changed since their last game here, for Earl Worth is among the missing, having gone to his home at Raleigh, N. C. where he said he had to undergo surgical treatment. So far as the management is informed, he has not left the team. In his stead at the initial sack is Clarke of last year's Danville team, in Durham on Tuesday Holmes who played first base in one game, is back in right field, while Bashore is playing center.

In event of a game today either Durham or Manush will likely be Manager Gooch's pitching choice while Manager Gooch's selection is not known.

Danville has won eight games and lost only six, with a percentage of .769. In the Piedmont league, yesterday made it appear that the locals had lost eight games.

Duffy, who was let go because the league regulations limited the number of players permitted on a team, was used to the game by hitting the ball and fielding with a bungle.

Lefty Helmach, the old Raleigh "longest" pitcher, with Mack's pitches and is credited with having won two and lost one game and with hitting around 700.

Trainer, formerly of Portsmouth is playing a fine game for Pittsburgh and is slugging the spheroid. His home run Monday beat the Boston Braves in a title battle.

Pittsburgh has a catcher named Marton, who is possibly the same lad who was used to the club of the old Chesapeake White-hose bunch, Del Pratt and Burns they are putting the laugh on the critics.

Outfielder Witt, acquired from the Athletics by the Yankees, has strengthened the American league champions and with Miller in center and Ruth and Meusel back in the lineup, they are going to be dangerous.

Good old Walter Johnson, beated Dague of the Indians in a good game in Washington Monday, winning 3 to 2. And the weather isn't warm yet either.

Warren Collins, one of the pitchers traded to Boston by the Yankees since the last season closed, turned in a shut-out victory over the White Sox Monday.

Big league baseball presents a study in nomenclature this year. The are Ellington, Yellowhorns, Shimmers, Fowler, Bohne, Hanging, Rohwer, Gschager, Backfoot, Winstone, Henline, Stoner, Wambegness and a host of others who are hard to call.

WILL PERMIT USE OF STEEL SHIRT GOLF CLUBS

CHICAGO, May 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive committee of the Western Golf Association today announced that its investigations and tests showed that steel shaft golf clubs afforded no mechanical advantage to players and that their use would be permitted in all tournaments held by the association. The United States Golf Association recently barred the clubs, but it is understood that this decision will be reconsidered.

The final tests were made yesterday in the presence of the committee by Bob McQuinn and Allan Low, two professionals and Chick Evans, a club professional, both got better distance with the steel shafted clubs than with the wood shafted ones. Evans averaged a 3 and a 2 on a hole with the new club, while it was a 3 and a 4 with the old club.

GOLF UPSET IN WOMEN'S MATCHES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 17.—The biggest upset of the 11th annual southern championship golf meet for women, being played over the links of the Birmingham Country Club, occurred today when Mrs. Dave Gaut, 1921 champion, and one of the three Memphis players left in the running was defeated by Mrs. Henry S. Gelsmer, of Birmingham, 3 and 4. Mrs. Gelsmer played splendid golf, taking into consideration the weather conditions. A steady downpour of rain fell all morning and the match was played with the course in a soggy condition.

Mrs. Gaut was never up on her opponent and the match ended when the 15th hole was halved.

Mrs. Mat Murphy defeated Mrs. John Armstrong, of Jackson, Miss., in their match. The field has now narrowed down to eight contenders, five from Atlanta, one from Memphis and two local women.

SCHAEFER STILL LEADING COCHRAN

CHICAGO, May 17.—"Young Jake" Schaefer, world 182 ballline billiard champion, tonight defeated Walker Cochran, 500 to 498 in the second block of their 1,500 point championship match. Schaefer leads the challenger, 1,000 to 919. The final block will be played tomorrow night.

Score of tonight's play: Schaefer 500, Cochran 498. Average for night: Schaefer 35; Cochran 35 8-14. Average for both nights: Schaefer 34 14-29, Cochran 21 20-29. High run for night, Schaefer 81, Cochran 159.

STAGE BEAUX ARE ABOUT EXTINCT

LONDON, May 17.—Stage-door-keepers of London theaters say the stage-door "beau" is extinct and has been replaced by a species of young man more aptly described by the American term "stage-door Johnny."

The vanished "beau," according to the guardian of one London stage entrance, wore a large silk hat at an acute angle, an elegant cape over his evening clothes and waited, a bouquet in one hand, a be-ribboned box in the other, gold knobbed swagger-stick under one arm, to greet a chorus girl and, with a graceful bow, to hand her into his private hansom-cab.

Today, Jack doesn't do that. He sits in his automobile puffing a cigarette and when the other party appears he calls from the curb "Come on, old girl, you've been a long time." The car starts with a jerk and the girl is hurried into a seat.

"I suppose they are more sensible but perpetual common sense makes stage-dorers like most other places these days—they're awfully dull," says a doorkeeper.

What Date Is It? That Depends

T. D. SCHALL

SECRET OF SPHINX

Calendar reformers say the sphinx was primarily to measure solar movements and compute astronomical data. The sphinx, facing east, originally wore, at the crest of its forehead, the carved image of an asp. The asp's head, at sunrise cast a shadow along the sphinx's body. From the shadow grooves were cut, and from these seasonal markings the Egyptians were able to work out their early calendars.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—When it's Jan. 1 in the United States, it's—
Dec. 9 in China
Nov. 16 in Turkey
Jan. 14 in Russia, Serbia, Greece and Bulgaria, and
Other dates in various other places. This causes confusion.

Thomas D. Schall, blind congressman from Minneapolis, wants this country to lay a basis for world-wide calendar reform by getting our own year established on 360 scientific yet simple a plan that other nations will adopt it on its merits.

The old Romans ran their year on the lunar basis. In 46 B. C. Sosigenes, an Egyptian astronomer, advised Julius Caesar to adopt his country's system, which allowed for twelve equal months of 30 days each, the odd five or six days as the case might be, being set apart as the end of the year for festive purposes.

Liked Odd Numbers
Julius did this in principle, but being a believer in the luck of odd numbers, scattered the extra days among the various months, alternately needing another day to complete this arrangement, he arbitrarily took the thirtieth day from February and gave it to November.

Later Augustus Caesar, apparently simply for the sake of change, altered Feb. 29 to Aug. 31, Sept. 31 to Oct. 31 and Nov. 31 to Dec. 31. Until 321 A. D. the days of the month were only numbered, not divided into weekly periods. In that year Constantine the Great established the seven-day week, with the rest-giving Sunday, but the months, being unequal, were divided erratically by the week unit and under this overlapping misfit system we have been getting along ever since.

Plans Even Dates
Schall's proposal is to divide the year into 13 equal months of four weeks each. This would take care of 364 of the average year's 365.

The extra day, which Schall would put at the end of the year, would be a national holiday, standing by itself and not as part of any week or month.

Thus every week would begin on Monday and end on Sunday and the day of the week of any given month would always be the same.

The additional month, to make 13, would be inserted between June and July and Schall suggests "Sol" as its name, that being the month in which—for us—the sun would reach its zenith.

To provide for leap year Schall proposes a "sixty day" between June and Sol to be a holiday and included in no week or month.

GENERAL ELECTRIC HEAD
RETIREES AFTER 40 YEARS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Charles A. Coffin, founder and creator of the General Electric Company, and the Thompson-Houston Company, one of its predecessors, retired as chairman of the board of directors at its meeting here today, and was succeeded by Owen D. Young, long associated with the company as vice president. Coffin was relieved of his own request after 40 years' service.

E. M. Rice, Jr., for over 40 years an associate of Coffin, and president of the company for the past eight years, also requested to be relieved of the duties of detailed organization and management of the company, and said, and to meet his desires the board created the new office of honorary chairman of the board, to which he was elected. Gerard Swope, president of the International General Electric Company, an affiliated organization, was elected president of the company.

Coffin will continue as a director and devote his time and attention to the problems of the company. Anson W. Baruch, vice president of the company and long identified with its interests, particularly in the field of public utilities and foreign investments, was elected vice chairman of the board. Rice will devote most of his time to supervision of the scientific, engineering and technical work of the company here and abroad.

"It was due to Rice's inspiration and direction," the statement said, "that the great advance in engineering work has been accomplished, and that, because of his foresight and vision, the research laboratory was created, from which has come many of the fundamental inventions concerning the use of electricity, which are recognized not only in the United States, but throughout the world."

The board was further increased by the election of J. R. Lovejoy and George F. Morrison, both long associated with the company as vice presidents.

WORLD'S MOST DARING DIVER SEEKS SUNKEN WEALTH ON LUSITANIA

CAPTAIN BENJAMIN FRANKLIN LEAVITT AND THE BRONZE DIVING SUIT HE DESIGNED ESPECIALLY TO SALVAGE TREASURE FROM THE LUSITANIA AND OTHER SHIPS IN WATER TOO DEEP FOR ORDINARY DIVING APPARATUS. THE ARMOR (SHOWN AT LEFT) IS SELF-CONTAINED, FOUR HOURS' SUPPLY OF PURE AIR BEING MANUFACTURED WITHIN IT AND AUTOMATICALLY DISCHARGED AS FAST AS USED. LEAVITT IS SHOWN WITH HIS SALVAGE SHIP, BLAKEY.

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY
PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Between June and September Benjamin Franklin Leavitt expects to dig $11,000,000 out of the bed of the Atlantic ocean.

The great treasure hunt—salvaging of the gold sunk with the Lusitania and Arabia—begins when the steamship Blakey sails from here May 25, stops at New York a few days, and on June 1 starts for the spot eight miles off Kinsale Point, Ireland, where the Lusitania went down in 1915.

The expedition is costing $250,000 and some 600 stockholders are backing Leavitt.

Divers will have to go down 255 feet to reach the Lusitania and 315 for the Arabia. Leavitt says, as any diver has ever been able to go in an ordinary rubber diving suit.

But Leavitt has spent six years inventing his own diving armor. In his first test in 1916 he made the world's record descent of 361 feet in Lake Michigan.

Light diving suits have been built in Leavitt's own factory here at a cost of $2,500 each. The suit is a quarter inch thick, the top and head-piece solid and the arms and legs made of ribbons of bronze encased in rubber, with ball bearings at the shoulders.

Millions in treasure at the bottom of the ocean never has been salvaged beyond a depth of 150 feet," says Leavitt. "Air here the pressure is too great. Air here is not needed and no diver can work at that depth more than 20 minutes, with an hour and a quarter to lower and pull up."

Leavitt says a novice can go down in his suit from 300 to 500 feet and remain four hours.

Air is manufactured within the suit from a tube containing 8 cubic feet of oxygen and nitrogen drawn from a four-pound cylinder of caustic soda. A valve outlet discharges the air, keeping pure air circulating at least four hours.

The only line that connects the diver with the ship above will be a half-inch, non-twisting cable that costs $1,120. Inside this will be a telephone wire connecting with a transmitter and receivers within the headpiece.

The diving suit weighs 350 pounds—out the enormous pressure of deep water reduces the weight on the ocean floor to 75 pounds.

Another Leavitt invention is a deep sea light, a glass globe half an inch thick containing a 300-candle-power bulb. A series of these will be dropped on weight's enabling the diver to see over a radius of seven feet.

The salvage ship will be held directly over the sunken ship by six 10-ton anchors. Aboard will be two tons of dynamite. By electrical detonation dynamite will be set off under water to blow open the strong rooms of the Lusitania and Arabia.

Each ship has $5,000,000 in gold bars in her strong room, according to insurance records. Leavitt plans to lift the gold to the surface with a 20-ton boom.

He plans to lift intact the Lusitania purser's safe which is estimated to contain $1,000,000 in money and jewelry. Very little is believed to be in the purser's safe of the Arabia, which lies 60 miles from the Lusitania wreck.

Leavitt is a small stocky man, with scant hair and blue eyes. He is 51 and has been a diver 25 years. In that time he never had an accident and water, but a few years ago broke an ankle in an automobile accident.

"I will make the first trip down to the Lusitania," he said.

After that four divers, C. E. Wilson, Madison Marcus, Raymond Moore and Harold Ericson, will go down two at a time in two-hour shifts. Commanding the Blakey will be Captain Charles S. Lickaday. The ship's crew will comprise 34 men and the salvage crew 20.

"Three weeks' pleasant weather will do both jobs," said Leavitt. "We ought to get through before September 15. On that date we have to quit because of storms."

MY QUEST FOR SUNKEN GOLD.

By CAPT. BENJAMIN F. LEAVITT.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—I hold the world's diving record of 361 feet, more than twice as deep as any other human being ever has penetrated the sea.

In salvaging the steamer Pawnee in 1915 I made a world's record of 174 feet, after others had spent $200,000 and lost seven lives in unsuccessful attempts.

The direct salvaging done by the recovery of $2,400,000 from the Empress of Ireland in 1915 and the Lusitania in 1915, last summer $4,000,000 was taken out of the Lusitania, 15 feet of water off the coast of Ireland.

With my diving armor I can—and will if I succeed with the Lusitania and Arabia—go after other treasure worth billions of dollars worth of ships and cargo were sunk during the war. In 400 years $17,000,000,000 worth have been sunk. Nine-tenths are in depths less than 500 feet.

All this treasure can be recovered. Ships such as the Titanic—down 3,800 feet—never will be salvaged.

I will either make a contract with insurance companies or trust to the courts later. In salvage cases like this from 85 to 90 per cent. of the treasure belongs to the salvager.
